

The Sustainable and Just City: Rio+20 and Beyond

Two dialogues with global leaders from cities, the United Nations, philanthropy and more

All of the world's population growth over the next four decades—some 2.3 billion people—will take place in urban areas. What will the cities of the future look like? How can we ensure that they are just cities, shaped by fairness, opportunity and a commitment to shared prosperity?

As urban leaders and social innovators gather for Rio+20, we invite you to join us for two conversations about how to build an urban future that is socially, economically and environmentally sustainable.

June 17, 2012

5:30 pm – 6:45 pm

Forte de Copacabana

June 18, 2012

11:30 am – 1:00 pm

Rio Centro, Plenary Room T-2

For more information, contact Kay Lee at k.lee@fordfoundation.org or 212-573-5148